11/10/72: We discussed this and related things in one of my graduate courses today. My prof loaned me this book--he studied at Penn with the author. It seems like an excellent study. This is the only mention of the 10 discharged, of which I assume you were one, if I correctly remeber what you told me. Earlier in the book there is a chapter about the Dies committee. You are never mentioned by name, but I told my prof (who used to be an assass buff and knows Tink Thompson) that you were one of those ten.

These photostats are from: Richard M. Freeland, The Truman Doctrine and the Origins of McCarthyism (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1972).